

I am very opposed to relaxing media ownership rules... Loosening the already lax restrictions, will create an excessive concentration of economic power where it does not belong. These corporate robber-barons already own too much of the media. Thus far, the FCC's decisions have produced a situation where first amendment rights are continuously eroding at the hands of these media giants. "Do not pass GO, do not collect $200..." enough said.